

I want to retain the local flavor of our many wonderful cultures here in the United States, and taking away the incentives for and possibility of locally owned and programmed radio puts that local flavor in jeopardy. And on the occasion that my opinion differs with most others, I want a forum for expressing it. I want to learn about unpopular opinions. I want variety. Now much of what we have might be euphamistically called "spice", and spice that's in poor taste.